However, no Price variation shall be applicable for MARC during the warranty period. Price Variation, if any, shall be applicable only after the warranty period (i.e. from the first day of the second year of MARC). The Price Variation will take care of variations in input costs like raw materials etc and also variations in taxes & duties, exchange rates for imported component of the material and services and labour cost etc. for Supervision and Overhead Component during the MARC period. In case the bidder quotes the variable prices for the MARC, they must comply with the following:

15.7.1. Price Variation Formula:

The bidder will submit a specific Composite Price Variation Formula including all components & variables on which Price Variation is sought considering both components of MARC namely “Spares & Consumables Charges” and “Supervision & Overhead Charges”. The PV formula shall be applied to determine the percentage increase between the base date and the first day of the respective year of the MARC. The bidder is required to quote an annual uniform ceiling limit (in percentage) on Price Variation, which should not exceed 6%. (In case the bidder does not quote a ceiling as above in the techno-commercial bid, the bid will be rejected - This may be clearly noted). The quoted annual uniform ceiling limit or 6%, whichever is lower, shall be applicable for evaluation and future payments shall be regulated by this limit. Following details must be given, in the manner as indicated hereunder:

- a) The detailed names of the variables in the formula.
The value of the variables must be available in public domain and published in a registered website freely downloadable by any user through Internet and maintained by any authenticated source like Government, Chambers of Commerce or Association of Manufacturers etc. The addresses of public domain (including Website addresses) should be mentioned in the Techno-Commercial Bid (Cover-I). If the respective Website addresses, on verification, are not available or active and freely accessible, the Techno-Commercial Bid is liable for rejection. This may be clearly noted.
- b) The fractional weightage of each variable as fraction of one in decimal, so that all weightages added together will be equal to 1.0.

Illustration-

1. A PV formula may be of the following structure -

$$PV = (a(X_n/X_0) + b(Y_n/Y_0) + c(Z_n/Z_0) + \dots)$$

Where a, b, c etc are the fractional weightages and  $a + b + c + \dots = 1.0$ ,  $X_n, Y_n, Z_n$  etc are the values of the different variables on the 1st day of the nth year of MARC and  $X_0, Y_0, Z_0$  etc are the values of the different variables on the base date.

2. The percentage increase will be calculated in the following manner:-

$$\text{Percentage Increase} = (PV - 1) \times 100$$

- c) The base date for calculating Price Variation for different variables indicated in the PV formula quoted by the bidder shall be date of opening of Techno-Commercial Bid (Cover-I). The date for application of PV for the particular year of MARC will be the first day of the respective year of MARC.
- d) The percentage of price variation for a particular year shall be calculated as per the offered composite PV formula, considering the changes in various variables included in the PV formula from the base date (date of opening of the Techno-Commercial Bid, Cover – I) to the first day of the particular year of MARC. However, this percentage increase shall have following limitation for allowing price variation:
  - i) The percentage increase in Price Variation in the nth year shall be limited to the admissible percentage increase for the (n-1)th year plus the annual ceiling limit quoted by the bidder or 6%, whichever is lower.
- e) The revised price for a particular year of the MARC shall be calculated in the following manner:
  - i) The price variation for a particular year shall be calculated by applying the percentage of price variation determined as per clause - (d) above on the quoted price for the particular year. The price variation arrived in this manner will be limited to the ceiling limit as indicated in clause - (d) above for the respective year.
  - ii) The total revised price would be the quoted price plus the price variation arrived in the above manner, limited to the ceiling as above.

- iii) However, there will be no ceiling on the lower side, on the revised price. This revised price will be payable for the entire year following fixation of the revised price.
- f) The successful bidder will have to submit the calculation for the revised price of MARC for the particular year based upon the PV formula along with self-attested copies of the documents available in public domain indicating the values of different variables as on base date and as on the first day of the particular year of MARC. The purchaser will notify the revised prices after verification.
- g) The successful bidder quoting the price variation formula for the MARC must submit the required details as indicated in Clause – (f) above not later than 30 days from the first day of the particular year of MARC, failing which payment for MARC for that particular year will not be processed.

However, the payment will continue to be made on the earlier price of the previous year till the revised price is notified. After the revised prices are notified, payment already made will be reconciled and adjusted from the next bills of the supplier.

15.7.2. Maximum Ceiling on the Price Variation Clause

(a) For evaluation purpose, the total MARC price for each year shall be escalated for Price Variation by multiplying the quoted total MARC prices for the respective years by  $(1+K)^{(n-1)}$ , where 'K' is the quoted Price Variation ceiling limit or 6%, whichever is lower. The Net Present Value (NPV) of this value of total MARC price (with PV loading) for the particular year shall be arrived at by using the discounting rate for that particular year, as mentioned in Annexure-4, Section –VII, Sample Forms.

(b) The actual payment during the MARC period, however, will be made as per the revised price arrived at in terms of Clause – 15.7.1.e.

(c) The above price variation clause will remain operative only for the stipulated MARC period of the contract.

(d) If the bidder quotes a variable price and does not mention the Composite PV formula and maximum annual uniform % ceiling limit, then its techno-commercial bid shall be rejected and its price bid will not be opened. All details of MARC including PV formula and uniform annual % Ceiling limit on PV should be indicated in the Techno-Commercial bid (without indicating the price.)

Bids submitted with conditional price quotations shall be rejected.

15.9 Discounts offered, if any, should be clearly indicated as Trade Discount, Quantity Discount etc. Conditional Discounts shall not be taken into account for the purpose of determination of ranking.

ITEM	Max. Points
TECHNICAL MERIT 100
Theoretical Production/Fuel Consumption Bucket cap.x3600/(90 degree cycle time x Hourly fuel consumption)	25
Stability Factor 1 Max.Digging force x Reach from central axis/Working wt. x Distance of C of G from central axis (Crawler Tracks Perpendicular)	25
Stability Factor 2 Max.Digging force x Reach from central axis/Working wt. x Distance of C of G from central axis (Crawler Tracks Parallel)	25
Digging Efficiency Max.Digging Force/specified bucket width	25
Note: The best technical merit value quoted by any of the technically responsive bidder against above mentioned each item would score full points. Against these items other technically responsive bidders would score on proportionate basis based on their quoted technical merit points.

Certified Information For Technical Evaluation Criteria

TECHNICAL MERIT

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA	DATA REQUIRED	UNITS	VALUE
Theoretical Production / Fuel consumption	Bucket capacity (refer 7.2 (a))	Cu.m
	Cycle time {refer 7.2 e (i) }	sec
	Hourly Fuel Consumption {refer 7.2 e(ii) }	Lit
Stability Factor 1	The maximum value of the ratio of the overturning moment to the resisting moment, whilst the machine is digging with the crawler tracks perpendicular to the face of the cut	%
Stability Factor 2	The maximum value of the ratio of the overturning moment to the resisting moment, whilst the machine is digging with the crawler tracks parallel to the face of the cut	%
Digging efficiency	The ratio of the maximum digging force to the specified Bucket width	%

Definitions

digging force : The Bucket or the arm cylinder force.

tipping line (tracks perpendicular to the face of the cut) : The centre-line of the front idlers, at ground level.

tipping line (tracks parallel to the face of the cut) : The centre-line of the front crawler track, at ground level.

overturning moment : The product of the digging force and the perpendicular distance from the tipping line.

resisting moment : The product of the weight of the machine and the horizontal distance from the centre of gravity to the tipping line.

Stability factors – Explanatory note

During the digging operation magnitude and direction of the digging force, position of the dipper and position of the centre of gravity of the machine constantly change. Hence the overturning moment and the resisting moment also change. The condition of least stability of the machine is the position during the digging operation where the value of the ratio of the overturning moment to the resisting moment is maximum.
